THE DUTIES OF A BARTENDER.

Probably in no other branch of business is the person in charge brought so constantly in contact with people of every class and disposition, as is the bartender, and he should therefore be an intelligent man and a good judge of human nature. He should be at all times polite and attentive to customers, and present a neat and cheerful appearance, having a pleasant look and word for each one who favors him with his custom.

It is the great aim of a successful bartender to make as many friends and to control as much trade as possible, and the surest way of doing this is to pay the closest attention to the wants of patrons and making such an impression upon the mind of the customer, through furnishing a good article of the liquor called for, as well as serving in such a gentlemanly and artistic manner, as that he will remember the place, call again himself and recommend it to his friends. A bartender, like an actor, should never show that he is feeling unwell or in a bad humor, as it is calculated to make a bad impression on the patrons, who are to him what the public is to the actor. In short, he should sympathize with those who are not feeling well, appear jolly to those who are apparently light-hearted, and in general use good judgment in his conversation with all with whom he comes in contact while in the discharge of his duties.

With these few words on the general attributes of a good bartender, we will enter upon the details of his business.

Glasses of all the various kinds should be arranged on the bench so that they will be handy when wanted. When a man steps up to the bar the bartender should at once present himself before him, and, producing a glass of ice water upon the counter, ask the customer in a polite and pleasant tone of voice what kind of liquor he wishes.

All mixed drinks should be made in full view of the purchaser, and such skill and dexterity should be used in handling the bottles, glasses, etc., as will gain the admiration of the customer and establish the bartender as an expert in his profession.

Under no circumstances should a stained or dripping glass be handed out to a customer or used in mixing a drink, and it is always advisable to have a number of glasses about two-thirds filled with water and ice on the bench ready for use at any time, but the customer should not be expected to pour out the water from a pitcher as is sometimes done.

There should also be a great variety of Fancy Glassware, to be used in decorating the shelves behind the counter, and there should also be such pieces of bric-a-brac, statuettes, pictures, etc., as will give the bar-room an attractive appearance.

Fruits should be kept on hand with which to trim and flavor drinks as well as to attract the eyes of those who come to the place.

It is hardly worth while to mention in detail every article that would be found useful to the bar-tender, and we will therefore pass now to the main object of this book and give the recipes for preparing the various mixed drinks now in vogue.

We call attention to the Cuts of Soda Bottle and Ginger Ale Bottle Holders. These are the only convenient and easily handled Holders made, and are much more desirable than the loaded Holders.

They are made of our usual quality, and are rivited and hard soldered at the joints, thus making them very strong.

We also call attention to the Cut of our New Pepper or Spice Mill. This Mill is perfectly made with Cast Steel working parts. Every one who has once tasted freshly ground pepper will recognize the advantage of this method over the old fashioned pepper, which allows all of the Aroma and much of the taste of pure pepper to escape.

HOW TO MIX TOM AND JERRY.

(Use punch bowl for the mixture.)

Five pounds sugar;

Twelve eggs;

Half wine glass Jamaica rum;

One and a half teaspoonful of ground cinnamon;

Half teaspoonful of ground cloves;

Half teaspoonful of ground allspice;

Beat the white of the eggs to a stiff froth, and the yolks until they are as thin as water; then mix together and add the spice and rum, thicken with sugar until the mixture attains consistence of a light batter.

TO DEAL OUT TOM AND JERRY TO CUSTOMERS.

Take a small bar glass, and to one tablespoonful of the above mixture add one wine glass of brandy, fill the glass with boiling water and grate a little nutmeg on top, then serve.

Adepts at the bar, in serving Tom and Jerry, sometimes adopt a mixture of one-half brandy, one-fourth Jamaica rum, and one-half St. Croix rum, instead of brandy plain. This compound is usually mixed and kept in a bottle, and a wine glass is used to each tumbler of Tom and Jerry.

Record to be kept.

Sales in quantities of five gallons and over.

SECTION 7. The board of excise in any city, town or village shall have the power to grant license to any person or persons of good moral character, who shall be approved by them, permitting him or them to sell and dispose of, at any one named place, within such city, town or village, strong or spirituous liquors, wines, ale or beer in quantities less than five gallons at a time upon receiving a license fee, to be fixed in their discretion, and which shall not be less than thirty dollars, nor more than $150, in any town or village; and not less than thirty dollars nor more than $250 in any city. Such licenses shall only be granted on written application to the said board, signed by the applicant or applicants, specifying the place for which license is asked, and the name or names of the applicant or applicants, and of every person interested or to be interested in the business to authorize which the license shall be used; and the license shall be kept posted, by the person or persons licensed, in a conspicuous position in the room or place where his or their sales are made, and shall be exhibited at all times by the person or persons so licensed, and by all persons acting under such license, on demand, to every sheriff, constable or officer, or member of police. Any omission so to display and exhibit such certificate shall be presumptive evidence that any person or persons so omitting to display and exhibit the same has and have no license. The said board of excise shall keep a complete record of the names of all persons licensed, as herein provided, with a statement of the place licensed, and license fee imposed and paid in each case, which record they shall at all times permit to be seen, in a convenient place at their principal office in any city, or at the clerk's office in any town or village. Persons not licensed may keep, and, in quantities not less than five gallons at a time, sell and dispose of strong and spirituous liquors, wines, ale and beer, provided that no part thereof shall be drank or used in the building, garden or inclosure communicating with, or in any public street or place contiguous to the building in which the same be so kept, disposed of or sold. CHAPTER 340.

An Act to regulate the sale of intoxicating liquors in cities having a population of over three hundred thousand inhabitants.

Passed April 30, 1883, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. The Boards of Commissioners of Excise in the cities of this State having a population of over three hundred thousand inhabitants, shall, if all other requirements of the law have been complied with, have power to grant license to sell strong or spirituous liquors, ale, wine or beer, to be drank on the premises, to be named in the application for such license, to any person or persons having a good moral character, whether or not they keep or propose to keep an inn, tavern or hotel, provided that no such license shall be granted unless the said commission rs shall be satisfied, upon examination, that the applicant therefor is a person of good moral character, and that a license may properly be granted for such sale in the place proposed.

§ 2. Any such board shall have at all times discretionary power to permit any person or persons to whom a license may have been granted, in respect of any specified premises, to remove to any other place within jurisdiction of the same board, during the period covered by such license, and there to continue the conduct of business under such license in the same manner as if no removal had been made, provided always that such discretionary powers shall not be exercised until, and unless all the requirements of law to be observed upon the granting of an original license, shall upon said application for removal be complied with and fulfilled in every respect.

§ 3. No person or persons having a license under this act, nor any assistant, agent, employee or servant of any such person or persons so licensed, shall be arrested for any alleged violation of any provision of any excise law, by any peace officer or other person, unless a warrant therefor, based on affidavit, shall have first duly issued according to law, except and provided that in case of any violation of any provision of any excise law between the hour of 1 o'clock Sunday morning and the hour of 12 o'clock Sunday night, in presence of any officer or person authorized to make arrests for violation of law. Such officer or person may forthwith and without warrant make arrest of the person or persons so violating any provision of any excise law.

Any officer or person authorized to make arrests for violation of law may arrest without warrant any person who, in the presence of such officer, or other person, authorized to make arrest, may be engaged in the sale of any intoxicating liquor without a license.

- § 4. No city of this State having a population of more than three hundred thousand inhabitants shall hereafter be subject to or be embraced within any provision of the sixth section of the Act, chapter six hundred and twenty-eight, of the Laws of eighteen hundred and fifty-seven, entitled "An Act to suppress intemperance, and to regulate the sale of intoxicating liquors," passed April sixteenth, eighteen hundred and fifty-seven.
- § 5. Any person who shall without a license sell or give away any strong or spirituous liquors, ale, wine or beer, to be drank upon the premises, shall be guilty of a misde meanor. And nothing in this Act contained shall alter or affect the provisions of existing laws touching the sale or giving away of intoxicating liquors to be drank upon the premises, or the prohibtion thereof in the cases mentioned in said laws, and the penalties prescribed therefor, except as provided in section four of this Act. And such provisions of existing laws as are applicable to persons who might thereby be licensed to sell intoxicating liquors to be drank upon the premises shall be applicable to persons who may be licensed under this Act, except as such laws are modified by the terms of this Act.

§ 6. This Act shall take effect immediately.

SECTION XI.

After an innkeeper's license expires, he is not liable for selling without license, by reason of the commissioners' neglect to meet.

Mayor, &c., of New York, 4 E. D. Smith, 142. Same case, 1 Abbots, Prac. R., 344.

SECTION XXI.

No recovery for liquor trusted.

Section 21. No inn, tavern or hotel keeper who shall trust any person, other than those who may be lodgers in his house, for any sort of strong or spirituous liquors or wine, shall be capable of recovering the same by any suit. All securities given for such debts shall be void; and the inn, tavern or hotel keeper taking such securities with intent to evade this provision shall forfeit double the sum intended to be secured thereby. (Sec. 10, chap. 628, 1857.)

SECTION XX.

To put up a sign.

SECTION 20. Every inn, tavern or hotel keeper licensed under the provisions of this Act shall, within thirty days after obtaining his license, put up a proper sign on or adjacent to the front of his house, with his name thereon, indicating that he keeps an inn, tavern or hotel; and he shall keep up such sign during the time that he keeps an inn, tavern or hotel. For every month's neglect to keep up such sign he shall forfeit ten dollars. (Section 9, chap. 628, 1857.)

The terms "inn, tavern or hotel" are used synonymously by the statute of 1857, to designate what is ordinarily and popularly known as an inn or tavern, or place for the entertainment of travelers, and where all their wants can be supplied. (The People v. Jones et al., 54 Barb. Sup. Court Rep., p. 311; Krohn v. Sweeney, 2 Daly, 200.)

SECTION XXXII.

Not to sell to drunken persons.

Section 32. Whoever shall sell or give away any strong or spirituous liquors or wines, or shall suffer any such liquors or wines to be sold or given away under his direction or authority, to any intoxicated person, shall forfeit not less than ten or more than twenty-five dollars for each offense. (Sec. 18, chap. 628, 1857.)

50 Ind. 22; 90 Ills. 59.

The offense of selling liquor to an intoxicated person created by the excise law of 1857 (sec. 18, chap. 628), was not indictable and punishable as a misdemeanor.

No liquors allowed in any room or building used for polling or registry purposes.

In cities and incorporated villages, no building or part of a building shall be designated as a registry or polling place in which, or any part of which, spirituous or intoxicating liquors are sold.

Laws 1872, chap. 570, sec. 16.

No lager beer, ale, wine or spirituous liquors shall be allowed on election day in any room used for election purposes.

Laws 1880, chap. 56, sec. 17.

SECTION XXXIV.

Not to sell to habitual drunkards or paupers.

SECTION 34. It shall not be lawful, under the provisions of this Act, to sell intoxicating liquors to any person guilty of habitual drunkenness, nor to any person against whom the seller may have been notified by parent, guardian, husband or wife from selling intoxicating liquors; and every party so selling or retailing intoxicating liquors shall, on proof thereof, before any court of competent jurisdiction, be deprived of his license to sell, and shall not be allowed a renewal of said license, and, in addition, on conviction, shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty dollars, nor more than fifty dollars for each and every violation of the provisions herein set forth. If any inn, tavern or hotel keeper, or any person or persons whatsoever, knowingly (outside of any poorhouse) shall sell or give to any pauper or inmate of any poorhouse or almshouse strong or spirituous liquors or wines, such person or persons so offending shall be fined twenty five dollars and be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be imprisoned not more than sixty days.
